Death of the Hon. Geo. E. Badger.

The most brilliant intellect of the country, for some three years past partially clouded by disease, has, in God's providence, been extinguished by death. The Hon. George Edmund Badger departed this life at his residence in Raleigh at mid-day of Friday last. He was born in Newbern on the 17th of April, 1795, and was consequently a little more than 71 years of age. In boyhood he was entered as a student at Yale College, but did not complete the course of studies there, for lack of pecuniary ability.—This was no eventual disadvantage to him, as all understand who knew his vast and thorough acquirements in all departments of knowledge, which he seemed to master almost by intuition. He was a rare instance of the man of letters, the jurist, the statesman, and the theologian, combined—in all an original and profound thinker, and a student for the love of knowledge. Coming to the Bar at a very early age, he at once took his place in the front rank of that profession, then more distinguished than now for great men, for it boasted of Gaston, John Stanly, Edward Graham, Iredell, Moses Mordecai, Duncan Cameron, Hogg, Ruffin, Archibald Henderson, Eccles, Joseph Wilson, and other eminent men. He was elected to the Legislature from the town of Newbern at 21, and Judge of the Superior Courts at 25. He held this latter position for only five years, but long enough to command a profound respect for the majesty of the Law, which he administered without fear, favor or affection. Many were the evidences of his impartial and upright judgments, perhaps the most conspicuous of which was the imposition of a heavy fine and imprisonment upon one of the wealthiest men in the State who had abused his office as a Magistrate to wrong a poor free negro.

Retiring from the Bench in 1835, he resumed the practice of the Law, and remained at the head of the Profession till called by Gen. Harrison, in 1841, to a place in his Cabinet as Secretary of the Navy. On the death of Gen. Harrison, his successor, Mr. Tyler, having repudiated the principles of the great Whig party which had elected him, Mr. Badger, with all his associates in the Cabinet except Mr. Webster, resigned his office in September, 1841. In 1846 he was elected to the United States Senate, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr. Haywood, and in 1848 he was again elected and for a full term of six years, at the expiration of which, the Democratic party having gotten into power in the State, he was succeeded by the Hon. Asa Biggs. And this was the last political position which Mr. Badger filled, except as a member of the State Convention which, in May 1861, passed the Ordinance of Secession. In this Convention, which he entered to aid the cause of Revolution, rendered necessary by Lincoln's Proclamation of war upon the South, he endeavored to prevent a recognition of the doctrine of secession, which he had always denied; but being overruled by the majority, he united with everybody of that period in the step which was taken. And he remained faithful to his pledge to the Confederacy.

The Senate of the United States was the principle theatre of Mr. Badger's fame. It might not have been so, however, if his great forensic efforts had been delivered in large cities instead of obscure County Court Houses in North Carolina. Among hundreds of these, his arguments in a murder case in Granville, a slander case in Wake, and another murder case in Bladen, (removed from Cumberland,) will never be forgotten by those who heard them. But no record of any of these exists, nor of his brilliant and political speeches in different parts of the State and in the Whig State Conventions, (with a single exception it is believed.) It is sad to think that with his contemporary generation will die even the memory of those grand displays of his genius, and eloquence, and erudition, in all of which one prime object was ever foremost in his view, viz: to illustrate and enforce those sacred principles of Justice, of Morality, and of Religion, which his whole life illustrated and entorced—for what he professed he practised.

But his Senatorial speeches are preserved in the records of the country. They are purely and rigidly statesmanlike and logical. The dignity of the place appears to have impressed him with a feeling that it would be improper to decorate them with the flowers of rhetoric of which he had so exhaustless a store ever at command. He stood there as a Statesman, not as an orator; as a logician, not as a rhetorician And he came to be universally regarded in Washington as the most profound logician in that then great body, where such men as Clay, Webster, Calhoun, Pearce, Clayton, Mangum, Bell, Corwin, Douglas, Reverdy Johnson, Davis, Seward, Cass, Berrien, Buchanan and Benton, sat by his side. To have this admitted of any man born and raised in and representing North Carolina, (to whose merit it is so seldom that justice is accorded,) is sufficient evidence of its unquestionable truth. Perhaps one of the most remarkable instances of his influence, and of the conclusiveness of his arguments, was furnished by his speech on the bill to create the office of Lieutenant-General, for the purpose of putting Col. Benton at the head of the Armies in Mexico, to supersede Generals Scott and Taylor—a measure which President Polk and Col. Benton and the Democratic party generally had deeply at heart. In the history of Congress for the last fifty years there is not probably another instance in which, in high party times, a Presidential recommendation of great importance has been decided upon a single speech. Yet when Mr. Badger closed his calm and unimpassioned argument against the bill, no one ventured to advocate it, and there was nothing further needed to be said against it. The vote was taken and the bill rejected.

But there was a still stronger evidence of his influence in the Senate. The purity and integrity of his life,—his courtesy, frankness, sincerity and unselfishness, ever doing what was right, regardless of consequences to himself,—so won upon his associates in the Senate, so filled them with respect and admiration, that they did in regard to him what was never done before or since, passed unanimously a resolution of regret on learning that the Legislature of North Carolina had failed to continue him in its service, and that he was no longer to be associated with them in the duty of conducting a powerful nation upon its career of greatness and prosperity. Senators of all parties, who could agree upon nothing else, with many of whom he had differed radically upon public questions, all agreed that they and the country were damaged by the loss of such a generous and genial associate, such an enlightened and patriotic Legislator.

A few days after his first attack of paralysis in 1863, there came to him a letter from the son of Mr. Pearce of Maryland, announcing the death of that eminent Senator and excellent gentleman. In accordance with the father's instructions, young Mr. Pearce wrote to Mr. Badger to apprize him of that melancholy event. A year or two ago the writer of this hasty and most inadequate tribute saw that letter and solicited a copy. He will not ask so much of your space, Mr. Editor, as the whole would require, but cannot refrain from copying a sentence or two:

"You do not need me to assure you (writes the son) of the warm friendship which my father always felt for you. He preserved this feeling of regard undiminished through a most tedious and afflicting illness, and only a few days before his death requested me to write to you after he should be gone, and tell you that you had his dying remembrance as a freind and gentleman. Although I have never known you myself, I know from frequent conversations with my father that he held you among the truest and most valued of his friends, and the purest and ablest of his public associates."

How happily, in a few words, does this describe Mr. Badger: "A friend and gentleman," "the truest and most valued," "the purest and ablest."

The secret of his influence, apart from his talent and genius, was apparent to those who knew Mr. Badger. Whilst entertaining and always frankly expressing the most decided opinions upon all public questions, he ever did so with a considerate regard for the personal feelings of those who differed from him. He assailed no man, but only measures. The writer remembers with admiration this trait in the character of his deceased friend, and regrets that it is so seldom imitated, and especially that his own practice has not conformed to it.

Mr. Badger was so far from being an office seeker, that he avoided all occasions or appearance of electioneering. He believed that it was his duty to serve his country when required, but that his country had no right to require him to demean himself by engaging in a scramble for the loaves and fishes. His merits were such that he could afford to act upon the principle that office was "neither to be sought nor declined."

There were two traits of character for which Mr. Badger was pre-eminently distinguished, to which we have not alluded, viz: his generous and elegant hospitality, and his delightful conversational powers, which far excelled those of any other person whom it has been our good fortune to know.

On the 2d. of January 1863, Mr. Badger was stricken with paralysis, which affected one side of his body and in some measure his utterance. Since his partial recovery from that attack he has enjoyed the conversation and reading of his family and friends, always acutely sensible of the points, and taking part to some extent in conversation, but unable to make any extended and connected argument, usually for want of some single word which he could not readily recall to memory. On the 2d. inst. he had another attack, and on the 10th. still another, under which he sunk in a few hours. In allusion to this want of a word to express his ideas, one of the eminent men of the State thus wrote to a member of his family, a few weeks after his first attack:

"You do not know, my dear madam, how much pleasure it afforded me to learn through your letter of your father's continued improvement, and of the hope of his complete restoration to health. I would be so glad to see him himself again. I was most surprised at your statement, that, while his mind is clear and his articulation good, he has some difficulty in commanding words to express his ideas. How strange! that his affliction should have touched him in his most perfect part: for, above all men I ever knew, he has been distinguished for facility and propriety in the use of language. I have so often heard him read authorities before the courts, and then state the principle in his own language, with decided improvement upon the author. I heard him years ago in a speech indulge in a strain of amusing irony and sarcasm, when I sat amazed at the, hitherto to me, inconceivable fineness, flexibility, and richness of the English language. In the fall of 1860, at a social party at Gov. Graham's, I heard him for half an hour upon infidelity, the existence of God, and the truth of the Christian religion, when I was astonished at the ease with which he would express and make plain the most difficult truths, which others could only obscurely conceive. And it was so gratifying withal, because there were youths around to hear it, and for whose benefit, indeed, I thought his remarks were intended. How noble! You do not know how proud I was of my friend, and how much prouder of the noble truths he uttered. I never before felt so forcibly the truth that only "the fool hath said in his heart there is no God." How strange to me, therefore, that Mr. B. should be at a loss for words. * * * For more than a quarter of a century he has been my beau ideal of a lawyer, an advocate, and a Christian gentleman."

There is another strange contrast in the life of Mr. Badger, besides that mentioned above. The results of the war reduced him from a state of affluence, and thus he who had lavished his ample means in a thousand ways upon all the needy who came within his knowledge, who had thus given away what would have made several moderate fortunes, found himself greatly restricted in the exercise of his generous propensity to relieve any suffering fellow-creature.

It is supposed that his first attack was produced by the intensity of his feelings in regard to the war then raging; and the writer can well believe it, for he remembers the haggard and depressed condition of body and mind in which he found Mr. B. in Washington in August 1851, whilst the country was in imminent peril, and the buoyant and elastic spirits which flowed in all his conversation and manners six weeks afterwards, when the Compromise measures of that session had been passed and the country was supposed to be saved. He would have died then for his country, and only lived when his country was relieved from its peril.

My friend of many years has preceded me to the grave. I was honored with his intimate friendship and correspondence, through a long period of prosperity and adversity, of health and sickness. And I look back through those years with recollections of unmingled admiration and respect and affection, for the man of genius and of learning, the brilliant orator, the profound jurist, the able and patriotic statesman, and the christian gentleman, that highest type of manhood.

——"Take him for all in all,
"I shall not look upon his like again."

The University.

We confess we have a deep feeling of anxiety for the prosperity of the University and every College, Seminary and School in the State. The education of our people is a matter of paramount concern. Hence, whatever may tend to damage that great interest in any quarter excites our anxiety.

Recently, the young men at Chapel Hill, agreeably to long usage, determined to have the Commencement Ball, and issued tickets containing the usual list of Honorary Managers. We have not seen the ticket and know nothing of its getting up, but learn that the names of Hon. Jefferson Davis, Gen. J. C. Breckinridge, Gen. Robert E. Lee, Hon. Zebulon B. Vance, and perhaps other notables connected with the late Southern revolution, were put upon the ticket. The programme of the ball, &c., is claimed by the students, we believe, to be their prerogative, and the Faculty was not consulted. This, we think, is usual.

When we learned that the names of Mr Davis and Mr. Breckinridge, one a close prisoner of the government awaiting his trial, and the other an exile, were on the ticket, we regretted it.—We knew the sensitiveness of the times, the keen scent of the "unmistakably loyal," and the eagle eyes of the Radicals, always ready to make a great flame out of a little smoke, and we deprecated any occasion to excite them. If we had supposed, for a moment, that this movement was prompted by a disloyal or disunion feeling in the students at Chapel Hill, we should have censured them severely, and raised our note of warning, but the exercise of a little reflection and common sense developed at once the feeling which prompted it. The "boys" desired to attract a crowd, to give eclat to the affair, and especially to express their admiration for the talents, the courage and the military renown of those men, who, perhaps, had led many of them to the battle field. For what high spirited, chivalric youth, does not glory in the flights of eloquence of the orator, the grand conceptions of the statesman, or the strategy, the skill and the heroism of the military leader? Even British statesmen could admire the ability and the moral courage of John Hancock and John Adams, and the skill and indomitable spirit and military genius of Washington, though they denounced them as rebels and traitors. The chivalric spirit is inborn in Southern youth, and there was nothing more natural, than that young students, especially, with whom admiration of genius, and especially military genius, is a passion, should, without reflecting upon the effect upon other minds, prepare just such a ticket as they did.

The Faculty, on hearing of the case, expressed their disapprobation of their course and remonstrated; which resulted, we presume, in satisfactory explanations. Here the matter might have rested, but for partizan malignity, which would not allow even the dead to sleep quietly, if it could disturb them.

The Standard, of Saturday last, could not let the affair rest. It was too good a chance to play the Human again, and, in order to back itself up, places B. F. Moore, Esq., of this City, and Gov. Swain in the same category with itself, in its denunciation of such men as Robt. E. Lee and Zebulon B. Vance. It witholds the letter of Mr. Moore to Gov. Swain, supplying its place with editorial comments, and publishes Gov. Swain's letter, which, taken together, we believe, place those gentlemen in a false position.

The Standard says:

"We publish below a letter from Gov. Swain, President of the University to B. F. Moore, Esq., in which the former characterizes in appropriate terms the conduct of some of the students in issuing a Ball ticket with Jefferson Davis, J. C. Breckinridge, Z. B. Vance and other insurgent leaders, as Honorary Managers. As soon as this conduct was brough to the attention of Mr. Moore, he wrote to Gov. Swain on the subject, expressing his condemnation of it in the most decided terms, and we are glad to find that Gov. S. concurs with Mr. Moore, as will be seen by his letter."

The article of the Standard betrays its design, by coupling in every instance the name of Z B Vance with those of Mr. Davis and Mr. Breckinridge.

Now, the manner in which the Standard puts the case obliges us to put the following questions:

Do Mr. Moore and Gov. Swain admit, that they sympathize with Gov. Holden or the Standard in the position, that the appearance of such names as Robt. E. Lee, and Z. B. Vance on the Ball ticket was an offence to them? Would they have it understood that the Trustees and Faculty of the University of North Carolina ostracise and denounce such men, because they were participants in the late revolution? Do they hold that the students of the University commit an offence, a misdemeanor, because they feel an admiration for, and express that admiration for, the leading men in the late Southern revolution? We do not ask, if they countenance disloyalty, if they apologise for manifest disunion feeling among the students. No one expects or desires such a thing. Nor are we willing to believe, that they are ready to join in the denunciations of the Standard against the students, because they express admiration for those men.

We know Mr. Moore has always been a consistent Union man,—far more so than Gov. Holden has been. He has always been outspoken, yet considerate of what is due to others, in his denunciations against secession and the 'folly and ruin' of the war, and at times, under excitement, has been severe; yet he has been no political malignant,—we have heard of no disposition on his part to persecute and ostracise such men as Z. B. Vance, Robt. E. Lee, and others. Least of all, has he clamored for more blood. We know Gov. Swain to be an ardent friend of Gov. Vance and admirer of Gen. Lee, Johnson and others. Hence, while as a matter of caution and prudence, we judge Mr. Moore and Gov. Swain would have preferred a different course on the part of the students, they join in no charges of disloyalty against them, nor invectives against the gentlemen whose names were on the ticket.

But Gov. Vance is clearly the object of the Standard's attack. His recent invitation and acceptance to deliver the Address are more than Haman can bear? He still sees "Mordecai, the Jew, sitting at the King's gate."

But what has Gov. Vance done? Since he took the oath of amnesty and has been on parole, he has demeaned himself as an humble quiet citizen. He has eschewed politics—desires no political preferment. He has however, been ready, as far as he could, to promote the industrial and educational interests of the State. Having sworn to support the Constitution of the United States, he endorses fully President Johnson's policy, and is regarded by four-fifths of the people of North Carolina as loyal a citizen as Gov. Holden is. Why not let him alone? Has the Standard lost its senses? If it had a tithe of its former forecaste, it would let Zebulon B. Vance alone.

By the way, would it not be well for the Executive Committee, and those Trustees who are outraged at the slightest manifestation of Southern feeling at Chapel Hill, to enquire why it is that the University of Virginia now enrolls on its register over 400 students, and Washington College, over which Gen. Lee presides, over 500 students, while the list at Chapel Hill is only about 60! as we hear is the case.

Feeling in North Carolina.

We published, in our last, an extract that is going the rounds of the Radical press, to the effect that Ex-Provisional Governor Holden had written a letter to a Senator of the United States, stating that such was the condition of public feeling in North Carolina, that unless protection was soon afforded, the State would be depopulated of its Union citizens. We made enquiry of the Standard as to the genuineness of the extract.

Without waiting for a reply from that paper—which we shall probably never get,—the question is answered by the following statement in a late number of the Alexandria Journal, a malignant Radical journal, which out-Herods Forney's Chronicle in its malevolence towards the South:

"We were yesterday shown a letter from Gov. Holden of North Carolina, addressed to a distinguished member of the United States Senate. The Governor states that hundreds of loyal people are daily leaving North Carolina for the Northwest—that unless some protection is speedily afforded them by the government every loyal man yet remaining in the State will be compelled to leave, he among the rest."

This statement is both untrue and mischievous. It embodies a libel upon the people of the State, which is calculated to do them great injury, and to obstruct the reconstruction policy of President Johnson. The inference is sought to be made that hundreds of "loyal" men are leaving the State, because of persecution. Minorities hardly persecute majorities, and, therefore, the further inference is studiously sought to be created, that there are but few "loyal" men in the State,—and that these few, including the immaculate author of the letter, himself, will be constrained or compelled to expatriate themselves, unless speedy protection is guaranteed.

"Protection!" What kind of protection?—Obviously, the Ex-Governor means one of two sorts: Either an increase of military force, as the present is impliedly insufficient to afford "protection;" or else the adoption of the Radical plan of disfranchising the overwhelming majority of our fellow-citizens, in order to put power in the hands of the "so-called" loyal few!

We denounce the statement contained in this letter as a most wanton and unwarranted imputation upon the character and integrity of our people, and we invoke upon it their indignant rebuke.

Doubtless a number of our citizens, under the pressure of pecuniary necessity, have left our impoverished State to seek in other latitudes the means of supporting themselves and families. We assert that no man has been compelled to leave on account of political persecution. If any have gone abroad, seeking to make such an impression, they can undoubtedly be classed under the head of those

"True patriots, who, be it understood,
Leave their country for their country's good!"

Agent at Washington.

Our readers are aware that this State has now no Agent at Washington. Having learned, however, through whose agency Gov. Worth has so well and promptly succeeded in bringing matters of importance to the notice of the Executive Department at the seat of government, we feel that a public acknowledgment of the obligations of the people of the State, and of Gov. Worth, is due to B. S. Hedrick, Esq., of the Department of the Interior, who, on account of his high appreciation of the character of Gov. Worth, and his devotion to his native State, kindly and generously proffered to render such assistance to the Governor, without fee or reward, when not officially engaged, as he might desire. It is in this way that the recent pardons, and other matters, have been so promptly dispatched. Mr. H. is a native of the State, politically a Republican, but is understood to sympathise with the President and his policy.

By the way, while we have had no correspondence with Mr. H., we have learned, from various correspondents of his in this State, that, occasionally, he has taken the Sentinel to task, because of its supposed proclivities to "copperheadism." We have taken no notice of them, for the reason that we knew, however well posted Mr. H. might be in North Carolina affairs, he could not entirely appreciate the position of the friends of the President and his policy in this State. We, too, have given him credit for too great a leaning to Radicalism. Our true position, and the one we have intended all along to occupy, is that of adherence to the "Constitutional Union party," and a square support of President Johnson, avoiding extremes on either side.

It is stated that the President has issued an order directing the arrest of all officers of the Freedmen's Bureau interested, directly or indirectly, in the cultivation of farms in the Southern States.

THE NEW YORK News learns that W. B. Nash, whose affidavit has been published by the New York Evening Post to convict Gen. Wade Hampton of false statements in his letter on the burning of Columbia, is "a freedman." His testimony will be rated, however, all the higher by the Radicals for that.

Receipts of Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, May 15.—The receipts of cotton at all ports since the close of the war to the present time have been 2,200,000 bales, and for the balance of the season, or say up to September 1st, they will probably add another 100,000 to that figure, making a round total of 2,300,000 bales.

TOBACCO.—The market continues active for all kinds of sound tobacco, and at good prices, while unsound (especially low grades and very badly unsound) are dull at very low prices. We note the sale during the week of 17 hogsheads dark, strong tobacco, (part not sound) for General Samuel A. Williams, of Warren county, N. C., at an average of $20. It was sold by Martin & Tannahill. The breaks have been pretty full the past week, but the receipts show a very heavy falling off. No fine or very good manufacturing opening, though such is wanted and at very full prices.—Pet. Index, 19th.

GENERAL NEWS.

THE MEMPHIS RIOT.—Seven different commissions will soon be engaged in ascertaining the facts relative to the Memphis riot. Congress has appointed a commission, General Stoneman another, General Howard a third, General Fisk a fourth, City Council a fifth, the white citizens a sixth and the negroes a seventh.

ALEXANDRIA, VA., May 18.—The Episcopal Convention to-day adopted, by a vote of 90 against 18, the following preamble and resolution: "That the Diocese of Virginia now resume its former ecclesiastical relations as a Diocese in connection with the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church."

Cholera seldom attacks boys. The only reason we can give for it is that they "never talk about it." Their minds are so constantly engaged in robbing apple orchards, and other innocent amusements, that they have no time to imbibe the premonitory symptons—low spirits, bad whiskey and a clammy cuticle.

The most extraordinary instance of patience on record, in modern times, is that of an Illinois judge, who listened silently for two days while a couple of wordy attorneys contended about the construction of an act of the Legislature, and then ended the controversy by quietly remarking: "Gentlemen, the law is repealed."

The correspondent with the investigating mission of General Steedman writes from Charleston, S. C. He finds the state of affairs in the Palmetto State similar to what he found in Virginia and North Carolina. The great drawbacks are too little capital and too much bureau.

A Fortress Monroe correspondent says each day increases the anxiety of Jeff Davis for the speedy approach of the time of his trial. He was surprised to find but one count in the indictment against him, and is more sanguine of a favorable result to himself on that account.

General Steedman's investigations at the sea islands of South Carolina reveal the fact that freedmen are overcharged for provisions and the necessaries of life, and are only half paid for their work.

The Democratic State Convention of Ohio, which is to be held on the 24th instant, promises to be largely attended, by the picked men of the State.

The Detroit Post of the 5th inst. says that while a great many newspapers are trying to kill Gen. Cass with softening of the brain, he stubbornly improves in health.

Trial of Major Jno. H. Gee.

SYNOPSIS OF TESTIMONY.

FIFTIETH DAY—(CONCLUDED.)

FRIDAY, May 18.

Dr. J. W. Hall, Salisbury, Physician.—Been in the profession 34 years. Was professor of theory and practice of medicine in the St. Louis University. Was Surgeon of the hospital. Was three years in London and Paris.

While the prisoners of war were at Salisbury, I was Surgeon, but had no commission. I had nothing to do with the prison. I had charge of the hospitals in the town.

Lumber was so scarce that I built the hospital out of my own pocket. The Quartermaster couldn't get money. I bought my lumber with grain. I began to build in July, 1864. I had twelve buildings completed by Christmas. I set my own teams to hauling. I had bought most of the materials in 1863. The government sent an agent to build hospitals—he remained from May 1863 to 1st. January, '64, and he had not begun, and then I took it.

This was a general hospital of the Confederate army. I had agents—detailing convalescents to go home and bring provisions. This continued till the first of '65, when I supplied from my farm. Friends supplied me. I begged everybody.

Frequently I could not get supplies from the Commissary.

I think I got one third of what was needed from the commissary. Repeatedly I got nothing. Don't think we were ever longer than three days at one time without getting meat. Sometimes I didn't get flour, but we got rice.

No distinction between prison hospital and other hospitals. I made my own requisitions on the quartermaster and commissary. They were not approved by any one. The medical director furnished hospital furniture, medicines and the like.

I did not expend my hospital fund; I could not get the provisions.

Dr. Currey seemed to be in a perpetual stew to get supplies. On one occasion, there was a dispute about some straw. He complained dreadfully about a lack of supplies. He made requisition for bunks, but could not get them.—Capt Goodman said he had not the lumber, could not get it. Dr. Currey made requisitions for clothing,—generally approved by Hines. He showed me the returns, cut down. I was also cut down, often one half. We would forward our requisition to the Medical Purveyor, at Charlotte, and they would there be often cut down.

He made requisitions sufficient to supply clothing and medicines.

By the regulations Major Gee had nothing to do with it.

Orders came from the Surgeon General to Hines, the medical director, and then to Dr. Currey.

The Surgeon General visited Salisbury.

Dr. Currey often made application to me for medicines when I did not have them. I often loaned him medicines.

I have heard Maj. Gee state to Goodman that his men were vastly suffering for shelter, wood and straw, and begged him to try and get it.—The Capt. said he had been doing all in his power, that he did not know where to get it. He told the Capt. that if his men did not get straw they must perish. The Capt. said that he had done all in his power. I said to send and get men. Capt. Goodman said he had gone to the length of his ability. The Major said it must be had, if it took force to get it. He then gave him an order.

Maj. Gee said, is it not better to force the citizens to supply them, than for these men to suffer till they commit deeds of desperation.

Morfit said one day to Goodman, I want 50,000 feet of lumber weekly; can I get it—Goodman said, certainly, sir: He then said all the mills in the county could not do it.

I don't think he could have got the shelter under 6 months.

The citizens and prison officials both petitioned the Secretary of War to remove the prison and he refused to remove it. The petition set forth the necessity of the prisoners and of the citizens—It set forth the inadequacy of the ground, the position, water, sarcity of provisions. The leading demand was the scarcity of supplies for the citizens and wood—the inadequacy of shelter—I don't know whether this was with Maj. Gee's consent or knowledge.

Maj. Gee complained to me of the coming of the prisoners of war—that it would be impossible to supply them.

The surgeons who had the rank of Major were myself and Dr. Currey. Can't tell Dr. Wilson's rank.

I asked Maj. Gee to my house, but he declined, stating that he could not neglect those prisoners—if I should be off and a difficulty occur here, it would ruin me.'

Cross-Examined.—I had about 3000 patients from July 1864 till April 1865. Had 500 at one time, sometimes less. I had charge of a general hospital. When the prisoners of war came in October, I had completed ten of my buildings, 100 feet long and 25 feet wide, one story high, occupied by Confederate patients. There were 3 others built. They were occupied to their utmost capacity—not more than 250 patients.—There were three wards. The other buildings were used for kitchens, employees, &c.

Those three put up after the prisoners of war came, were made for wards. Then we could accommodate from 400 to 500,—there are at least a dozen saw mills in the county. They were not cutting much. If they all did run, they would cut from 7000 to 9000 feet a day—one on the W. road would cut 3,000 feet, another, 2000 feet a day. I gave grain for the lumber I got.

I did not always get as much flour as I wanted for the hospital. Generally enough rice.

The hospital fund was not limited; I was allowed to spend the whole, but to turn over all I had at the end of the month, but $5000.

There was frequently a deficiency of straw. I have had straw 10 days or two weeks without change; have been entirely without it.

I don't know that the clothing was issued to the prisoners of war, except that I have seen it on them when I visited the prison.

Re-Direct.—I had patients with sores from having to lie on the floor.

The supplies found by Stoneman under the hospital partly belonged to the State, none to the hospitals. The medical officers had no control over them.

I got about 15,000 feet of lumber after the prisoners of war arrived.

To Court.—I do not know any means the prisoners could have been provided with shelter. If they had been given pine poles they could have built shelter; there were some within a mile and a half or two miles. This was my suggestion to Morfit; it was my opinion.

If they could have got transportation the plan might have been carried out.

My patients were fresh. Dr. Curry's had lain in prison and were much reduced.

Chickens were difficult to get. There was no fixed price for anything. I have turned over about $10,000. I bought all I could get.

The average number of patients in my hospital was 400.

There were only four large buildings.

Court adjourned.

FIFTY-FIRST DAY.

SATURDAY, May 19.

William H. Cole, Physician, Baltimore, Md.—Was surgeon at Salisbury while the prisoners of war were there; eight or ten days before the last were exchanged. I was in charge of wards C. and D. in general hospital No. 10.

In those two wards I had 160 patients. In ward C, one half were tolerably well taken care of; the balance were on the floor and filthy. In ward D. there was not one bed of any sort—no sort of comfort or accommodation. There must have been 100 men without any beds altogether. There were some wounded, some with diarrhœa, dysentery, typhoid fever, and measles.

A great many had bed sores—nine-tenths had the itch.

I found the greatest difficulty to get any sort of diet. I dropped the idea of a diet for the sick.

I was able to get no hospital supplies from the government. They supplied us with bacon and corn meal.

The first three wards were in tolerable good condition. Ward D. was very uncomfortable. I could have got no other accommodations in town.

Witness asked a Major when Stoneman was in Salisbury, for supplies for the hospital. He told him to send up all the force he chose and get them. Witness did send up and got what he needed.

The Surgeons had not one quarter of a day's provision at that time for the hospitals.

Surgeons were not under the control of the line officers.

Commanding officers of posts had nothing to do with the requisitions of Surgeons; to submit it to them was a matter of courtesy. In case of necessity the endorsement of the commanding officers would be procured. It was not essential. I have never served at a garrison.

When I went to Salisbury, we had to be very careful of quinine, opium and such medicine.—We got a very scanty supply of them. We got 2 onces quinine when we drew for 8 ounces, and other valuable medicines on the same scale.

The rations were very short.

The men I met on my way to Salisbury, exchanged prisoners, looked very well.

Have known the State to refuse corn to Confederate troops and they broke open the door.

I was unable to get my extra rations.

Cross Examination.—Dr. Hall had 4 wards.—All requisitions were sent up to Dr. Hall and forwarded through him to the Medical Director.

There was probably 2000 prisoners in Raleigh and I passed more in the cars.

Broady L. Duke, Orange county.—Farmer, was detailed as orderly for Maj. Gee; slept in his room, knew all his clothing. He had a citizen's overcoat.

Maj. Gee told Gen. Gardner that he was not prepared to take the prisoners, and if they came he would ask to be sent back to his command. Gen. Gardner said they would have to come.—Maj. Gee spoke of the scarcity of supplies.

At that time there were very few prisoners of war.

Never knew a prisoner who had escaped and who was brought back to be punished.—Some who came back hungry were fed on one occasion.

Persons were permitted to see their friends who were prisoners.

When Lieut. Davis was shot Maj. Gee had been sick for several days. That morning he was lying on two chairs before the fire. Major Gee told Capt. Fuqua to go and see what the gun was fired for, that he, himself, was sick.

I saw the tree near which Davis was shot, two feet the other side of the dead line. There was some water on the front of the tree.

I was at the depot at the time of the outbreak,—heard cannon,—ran up to the platform. Saw Col. Stone, who said that Major Gee had ordered to stop firing. Major Gee was on the platform, on the front, talking. When the third cannon fired I was about half way between the depot and prison. I did not run all the way.

Maj. Gee said a deserter was of no use either side.

Sometimes I would be sent to the commissary or to the quartermaster two or three times a day.

I once went into Capt. Goodman's office and he was not yet up. I went and told the Major that it was not office hours, who said it was a h-ll of a time to be talking about office hours when the prisoners were suffering; that his office hours were from sun down to sun up, and from sun up to sun down.

When rations were short, he acted as if he were mad. He would send and go himself to see when the provisions would come.

Witness told about flanking being reported to Major Gee.

Major Gee said let it go; that there was little enough for them as it was. Major Gee's orders to the officers of the day were, that he did not object to their carrying provisions, but he wanted them to be careful about whiskey.

The police cart went in at the water gate and sometimes at the little gate in front.

Have seen prisoners bring in provisions, pass within 25 yards of Major Gee.

Recollect about giving the prisoners at the ice pond whiskey.

Windows of Maj. Gee's room looked out on the prison.

Have heard him say he wished he could give some tents to the poor devils.

It was his practice to go and see what was the matter when an alarm was made at the guard house.

He never had any fire in his sleeping room—couldn't get the wood—poor fire in his office.

Have seen prisoners out getting leaves.

Major Gee said he had to repeat his instructions every day,; they, the officers of the day, had no sense.

Cross-Examined.—Witness describes Major Gee's wardrobe:—Never saw him with a gray cap—I will swear he never wore one—I stayed with him all the time.

The conversation with Gen. Gardner was, I think, in September or October.

[The Court has adjourned until Monday next, 28th inst. The remainder of the evidence submitted on Saturday will be given in instalments. It is understood that there are very few witnesses now to be examined; so that the probability is that the trial will very shortly be brought to a conclusion.]

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—The Secretary of the Board of Trustees announces the annual board of visitors to the University.

F. L. Bond, Tarboro', wishes to rent a small shop in that town suitable for the business of a wheelwright.

See announcement of the Virginia Military Institute, Lexington,—one of the finest educational institutions in the South.

Mackerel:—B. P. Williamson & Co.

Nice White Corn:—Pulliam, Jones & Co.

$25 Reward for Mule stolen: P. C. Person.

The firm of Kellogg, Wheeler & Co., is dissolved, and the business will be continued by Ed. Wheeler & Co. They have received attractive importations of Dress Goods, &c.

"THE LAND WE LOVE."—The Charlotte Times says that the first number of this monthly periodical, edited by Gen. D. H. Hill, has made its appearance. It is described as superbly gotten up and abounding in interesting matter. We shall notice it fully, when we shall have received a copy.

THE FREEDMEN in Edgecombe celebrated their liberation on the 11th., by a procession &c., in Tarboro'. The Southerner says that the demonstration was conducted in an orderly manner.

BISHOP ATKINSON.—The Wilmington Dispatch, of Saturday, says:

"In consequence of failing health this eminent and popular divine will leave here for Europe on Wednesday next. He goes via Baltimore, when he will take passage in one of the Liverpool steamers now running da the Baltimore and Liverpool line.

It has been thought by the friends of the Bishop that a visit to Europe during the summer months will result in great benefit to him in his present enfeebled condition. His devotion to his duties, as Bishop of this Diocese, has resulted in such a prostration of his physical energies as to render some relaxation an absolute necessity.

We learn that the Bishop will be accompanied by Mrs. Atkinson, and that they will probably spend about three months in Europe. The prayers of many will attend them in their absence and be daily offered up for their safe return."

LIEUT. WM. H. HAYWOOD.—Aye, let the remains of the honored boy have all honor paid to them. A better soldier did not fall during the war. We remember his being shot through the arm, at Fredericksburg, we think. He was then a private and could no longer use the musket which, at his best, he seemed unable to carry. Instead of going to the rear, he reported to his brigade commander (Gen. Branch,) with his torn arm and with his musket, and volunteered as an Aide, being unable to fight, and went finally to the rear reluctantly in obedience to orders. This little incident, out of many as striking, will show of what stuff Lieutenant William Henry Haywood was composed. All honor to the gallant dead!—Northern Commercial.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Bank of Wadesboro,' held at their banking house in that town, last week, Col. W. L. Steele, of Richmond, was elected President, vice H. B. Hammond, Sr., who has declined a re-election.

AT THE ENROLLMENT of the militia of Wadesboro' beat, Anson county, last week, the following gentlemen were elected officers of the company viz: J. A. Boggan, Captain; R. B. Horton, 1st. Lieut.; S. J. Edwards, 2d.; John Threadgill, 3d. They were all members of the gallant Co. C, 14th. N. C. T. They will be as prompt and efficient in protecting public order and quiet, now, as they were faithful in the discharge of duty in the field.

AN APPEAL TO THE GENEROUS.—We were not fully apprised, until yesterday, of the extent of the loss of our friend Junius B. Whitaker, of the Goldsboro News, by the late fire in that town. We are pained to learn that his loss will reach nearly $6,000—embracing, literally, his all. Mr. Whitaker is a native of this City, an enterprising, public-spirited gentleman, and his paper, under its efficient business and Editorial management, was beginning to cover a wide field of usefulness. It was devoted to the best interests of North Carolina, and was manly in its vindication of her rights and fair name.

Will not many of our citizens—most of whom know Mr. Whitaker, personally,—come to his assistance in this hour of misfortune, and aid him in getting afloat once more? It will be a well dispensed act of liberality; and we shall be pleased to receive any donations at this office to be forwarded to Mr. Whitaker. Mr. P. F. Pescud will also take charge of any subscription.

COLUMBIA, S. C.—Rev. Colin Murchison, of the S. C. Conference, stationed in the City of Columbia, preached twice on Sunday last, in the Methodist Church. He made an appeal in behalf of his Church, which was destroyed by fire, during the sacking of the City by Sherman's troops.

Baptist Sabbath School Picnic on the 18th. of May.

In spite of the storm of the previous day and night, the threatening appearance of its continuation, and their peculiar objection "to sprinkling and pouring," the Raleigh Baptist Sabbath School, (numbering about 400, including officers and teachers) with their invited guests, assembled at the Church by 6½ o'clock. The cloudy appearance of the morning was redeemed by the light, which radiated from the bright eyes and happy faces of the delighted children, and the air was redolent with the perfume exhaled from their gorgeous bouquets.

The blessing of God having been asked, the procession was formed and proceeded, under direction of Marshall Pescud, to the R. & G. R. R. Depot, where we found the "Chockayotte," under command of that most careful and praiseworthy engineer, E. W. White, with seven cars attached most superbly arranged, and in care of that accommodating and favorite Conductor, Capt. Howard, through whose assistance we very soon had all seated, and locked in.—Then it was, that the little fellows made the welkin ring with their songs of rejoicing, amid the echo of which the whistle blew, and away we went with rapid speed to "Wake Forest," which did not seem further than "Crab Tree," on ordinary occasions. We were there in a giffy, and found the Warrenton, Franklinton and Woodlawn Schools, under Maj. Foote, assembled on the green and ready to receive us.

After the Greeting Song, the Raleigh School, filing out of the cars in most admirable order, under cover of their splendid banners, so tastefully decorated with choice flowers and evergreens, formed in line at an angle on the right of the W. F. & Woodland schools, and faced to the front. By the time the line was arranged, the steam whistle announced the arrival of the train with the schools from Warrenton and Franklinton, who made a most imposing appearance, and, guided by their Marshals, Dr. Foot and Mr. Ellis, they marched in front by the Raleigh and other schools, who sang some very beautiful and appropriate songs of welcome, and then followed in turn, amid the loud huzzahs of the dear children. They then proceeded to the Chapel.

When all were seated, and order was secured, the Rev. Mr. Hudson, of Raleigh Methodist Church, being called upon, returned thanks to God for His providential care and goodness in permitting us to reach the goal of our hopes on this occasion without accident. The audience were then entertained, for a hour or more, with most eloquent and appropriate speeches, none of which exceeded ten minutes, and all followed by soul-stirring songs from the children. We then dispersed, and, laying aside formality, all joined together in contributing to each other's pleasure. Ere long, the bell announced "the signal for close action," and Marshal Pescud, having given the order to charge, the scholars obeyed in double quick time, and were soon surfeited with the rich viands spread before them, in the most abundant profusion; after which the older ones, male and female, "pitched in with a vim." And after all were satisfied, a large number of hams, loaves of bread, and good things, generally, were turned over to the Young Men's Christian Association for distribution among the poor of Raleigh. The Wake Forest school deserves great credit for the ample and splendid arrangements made for the accommodation of their guests, and the little folks responded most emphatically to the vote of thanks which was tendered to them, on motion of Mr. Palmer.

After dinner, many repaired again to the Chapel, and were regaled with songs and speeches, some of which were very humorous; all were instructive and afforded pleasure; and those present will not soon forget the speakers, who, as well as we now remember, were Messrs. Hudson, Cunninggim, Skinner, Palmer and Edgar Lougee. We were also entertained by Messrs. Prof. Foot, Wingate and Royal, Messrs. Royal, Jr., Ellis and others, all of whom deserve our thanks for their effective efforts.

We must not forget the admirable impromptu speech of Master Ward, of Franklinton, the declamation of that wonderful little prodigy, Master Ruffin Litchford, of Raleigh, and the song, "Light in the window for thee," by little Lilly Ruth, which delighted the audience, and elicited greater applause than all the speeches and songs of the day.

And as for the ladies, "we are so much their's that we are hardly our own." All of them contributed so much to make the feast attractive and palatable in every respect, that we forbear being invidious, for fear that some, more praiseworthy than the others, might be overlooked.

Mr. Pescud was assisted, most faithfully, by his assistant marshals, Messrs. Bryan, Palmer, Betts, Marcom, Royster, Bradley and Williams.

The school returned to the City without accident of any kind, at about 5½ o'clock, and marched to the church, when the exercises were closed by prayer from the Pastor, singing, and some remarks from Mr. Pescud, who thanked the scholars for their good behavior and strict obedience to his commands during the day.—The Doxology was then sung, and the Apostolate Benediction was pronounced, and the school dispersed to their respective homes. An Extraordinary Statement in Regard to Rheumatism and Pleurisy.

Peter Vaden, Esq., Dinwiddie county, Va., (Nov. 6, 1865) says: "In August 1857, my wife, aged 66 years, was taken ill with what the doctor called a Bilious Rheumatism affecting her whole system; rendering her entirely helpless, so much so, that she had to be lifted and fed as an infant, for the pace of three months, suffering the most excruciating pain; her hands drawn out of shape and stiff, so that she could not use them. After all other remedies failed, in January, 1858, I was advised to get the SOUTHERN HEPATIC PILLS for her. She used the Pills strictly according to the directions accompanying them, and we soon discovered a change for the better, and in one month's using she was well, and continued so up to the present time; has become flashy, cheerful, and as active as one could be of her age. One of my servants was taken with a violent attack of Bilious Pleurisy. I gave him those Pills, and in about ten days he was up and at his work; said that he felt as well as he ever did, and has continued well ever since.—Another was taken with Pleurisy. I gave the Pills, and she was well and at her work in ten days after she commenced using them. My Doctor's bill has been heretofore from $175 to 200 per year. I have used them in my family, which consists of eighteen white and colored, and have not called in a doctor during the year. This is a great saving. They certainly are the best family medicine ever discovered. After a fair trial I can recommend them as such."

A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE!

DR. MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Cutaneous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disentestant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggiel's Bilious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhea Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all affections of the skin Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 41 Fulton Street, New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box. Sold by all Druggists in Raleigh.

COTTON GINS,

W. G. CLEMONS, BROWN & CO.,

COLUMBUS, GA.

WE have received the manufacture of Cotton Gins in this city, and will be prepared to fill orders by 1st June next. As we shall not be, as heretofore, represented by traveling agents, parties wishing our Gins, will confer a favor by sending in their orders at an early day. As owing to the demand, we shall be unable to keep a stock in the hands of our local agents, as it was our practice before the war. All business transactions being now reduced to cash, our sales will be made on the basis of ready pay.

Our Gins are too well known to require any special notice or commendation; we believe they are survived in the chief points of excellence which go to make up a superior machine, namely: Speed light draught and good sample.

Our DOUBLE CYLINDER GINS will be found superior to the single cylinder, when parties have steam or good water power, to give them the necessary speed. In all cases when this can be done, we recommend them in preference to the single cylinder. If, however, indifferent or insufficient power is used, they will not do as well as the single Gin.

WHITE SULPHUR AND CHALYBEATE SPRINGS.

THE UNDERSIGNED has the satisfaction of announcing to the public, that he has leased these celebrated Springs, and that they will be opened for the reception of visitors on the first day of June ensuing.

His arrangements are of that complete and extensive character, that he will be able to accommodate a large number of guests and to offer greater attractions than usual to those who may visit

This pleasant and healthful resort.

No trouble or expense will be spared to render his patrons comfortable and satisfied.

The grounds are elegantly laid off, and the buildings are enlarged and improved.

He will have ICE, MILK, VEGETABLES and all the substantials and delicacies of the table in profusion.

An ICE CREAM SALOON and SODA FOUNTAIN will be attached to the establishment, where those refreshments, as well as CONFECTIONERY, Fruits &c. can be always obtained.

The bar will be supplied with the finest liquors, and a billiard saloon and bowling alley, for amusement and exercise, be at the disposal of visitors.

The Medicinal Properties

Of the Sulphur water have been amply tested during many years by a large number of visitors, and its beneficial results strikingly displayed in the cure or relief of Dyspepsia, Affections of the Liver, Jaundice, Diseases of the Skin, &c.

Another Spring has been discovered in the vicinity of the establishment, an accurate scientific analysis of which [given below], proves that it is a valuable Chalybeate. It is a mild and gentle tonic, and in the opinion of the physicians who have examined it, and witnessed its effects in some cases during several seasons, must prove beneficial in Atonic Dyspepsia, Chlorosis, Uterine Nervous and Neuralgic Affections connected with Debility; and of especial service to persons living in malarious regions of country, whose blood has been robbed of its normal proportion of iron by repeated attacked of malarial fever.

Persons traveling on the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad will always find a line of stages, under the management of Mr. Granger, ready for their accommodation at Warrenton Depot. There will be a daily mail from Warrenton to the Springs

J. H. HOPE.
